The WC1 case contains the best selling items in both lines. These items were selected after a careful study of sales records and none of them are slow movers. Each tool is easily removed for the purpose of demonstration to a customer. Replacements are made from stock. The Crescent method of mounting tools in the case is the ideal way. Each tool is held by a steel clip which is slipped over a bolt and tightened down by means of a wing nut. A few turns of this nut (with the fingers) releases the tool.

Under each tool on the board is a tag which gives the catalog number, size and retail price of the tool. (Foreign customers are supplied with blank tags instead of printed ones.)

The case is of quartered oak, with a veneered oak panel back. The door is hung upon strong hinges, and when closed, excludes all dirt and dust from the case. A lock is mounted in the door.

The glass is fastened securely in place, and is of good, clear quality.

Steel easels for this case can be supplied at slight extra cost.

Case size, 24½ x 48½ x 2¾ inches. Weight, packed for shipment, 106 lbs.

FACTS ABOUT CRESCENT TOOLS

INSPECTION

Before it is placed in a box every Crescent tool is given a thorough inspection to see that it is working properly.

PACKAGING

Each Crescent tool is packed in an individual box and a label which gives all necessary facts is put on the box. The tool number is also shown on the ends of the boxes so that they can be identified while on shelves.

Polished tools are given a coat of rustproofing oil to insure their being in perfect condition when they reach the consumer.

SHIPPING CASES

Cases are designed with sufficient strength to withstand the rough treatment they receive in transit.

Export cases are made of heavy lumber and each case is strapped with steel bands.

Parcel post shipments of small quantities are wrapped in heavy paper, reinforced with corrugated paper and either sealed or tied.

DEALER HELPS

To assist retailers in selling Crescent and Smith and Hemenway Tools, we will furnish upon request, window cards, window transfers, circulars for enclosure in statements, letters, etc., and other material which is brought out at different times.

Crescent Snips and Hack Saw Frames are packed in attractive red lined boxes which have an easel in the cover. The bottom of the box containing the tool rests on this easel, making a handy display fixture for either window or counter use.

The boxes of the smaller tools adapt themselves nicely to display work. They can be readily formed in pyramids or other shapes, and together with the tools, will make very good window displays.

Electrotypes for use in newspaper or catalog will be furnished free of charge to any dealer who cares to make use of them. Cuts of every tool can be supplied in the same size as those used in this catalog.

We will imprint without charge, the name and address of any dealer on a quantity of envelope inserts for enclosing with statements or letters.

Samples of and complete information about any of this material will be sent upon request.

A completely equipped chemical laboratory and experimental shop are maintained at the Jamestown, N. Y. plant. All tools made in either Jamestown or Irvington have the benefit of the findings of these departments. Work is constantly being done to improve the quality of tools wherever improvement is possible.

CATALOG EIGHTEEN

was printed in the Crescent Tool Company's printing department. This department is unusually complete for a private printing plant. It is equipped for practically any kind of printing.

All the shop printing, including labels for all the packages, office forms, advertising matter and display board fronts are handled by the printing department.

Not only are the box labels printed here, but all the boxes themselves are manufactured in the Jamestown plant. Practically every tool made by the Crescent Tool Company at either of its branches is packed in an individual carton. These cartons are turned out in thousands by the Crescent box making department.

STEEL FOR CRESCENT TOOLS

The steel used in the manufacture of Crescent Tools is made according to Crescent specifications. The formulas now in use have been developed after considerable study and hundreds of tests.

In the chemical laboratory at the Crescent plant in Jamestown, every shipment of steel is tested before any tools are made from the material in the shipment. These tests show whether or not the steel has been made in accordance with the required analysis. It is only by strict adherence to the established formulas that the uniform high quality of Crescent Tools can be obtained. And it is this quality that has made the Crescent wrench the standard of its type. Crescent wrenches are satisfying their users in every country in the world. And other Crescent Tools are proving their worth in continually widening spheres of activity.

CRESCENT DISPLAY BOARDS

With the exception of the DB5 and the WC1 case, all Crescent Display Boards are made of heavy wallboard. The front of the display is printed in colors on coated paper and pasted on the panel. Another sheet is pasted on the back. On this sheet is printed the number of the display and the tools it contains, with their catalog numbers.

An easel is fastened to the back of the panel by means of which the display is held in an upright position on the counter or in the window. The tools mounted on these panels are fastened securely so that they will not drop off or be easily stolen.

New Items -

A New Line of Screwdrivers

These screwdrivers have been carefully designed to stand the hardest kind of service. They are a worthy addition to the Crescent Line of high grade tools.

General Information about the Crescent Screwdriver Line

BLADES: Drop forged from special screwdriver steel. Machined to proper size according to screw specifications. Finely polished and hardened full length.

FERRULES: Turned on automatic screw machines from solid bars of steel. Cannot stretch out of shape.

HANDLES: Selected clear, straight grained hard maple.

CONSTRUCTION: Ferrules forced onto blades under several hundred pounds of pressure. Lugs forged onto bits cut into ferrule and handle, making turning or loosening impossible.

FINISH: Knurling on ferrule and handle gives sure grip without hurting the hands. Handles dipped in clear lacquer, making them waterproof and easy to keep clean. Oil and grease cannot penetrate into the wood and cause it to get slippery. Polished blades and ferrules.

GUARANTEE: The usual Crescent guarantee of perfect satisfaction or money back applies to this new line of screwdrivers as well as to all other Crescent and Smith and Hemenway Tools.
